Pledging to support apprenticeships in small and medium-sized firms

In partnership with the government-backed Apprenticeship Levy Scheme, McLaughlin & Harvey has pledged to transfer part of its Apprenticeship Levy Fund to local SMEs to fund the recruitment and training of apprentices predominantly in the construction sector.

This commitment ensures that unspent levy funds go towards supporting businesses in funding their apprenticeship programmes where they may not have previously been able to benefit from the Apprenticeship Levy. The schemes will not only cover the costs of recruitment and training of apprentices to enable businesses to thrive, but will ensure investment is made to create career developing opportunities within the local area.
